For The Prevention Of Cruelty To Animals

May 12, 2004

Dear Mr. Popovich:

We had the privilege of watching your "Comedy and Pet Theater" today and were amazed by your animal training abilities.

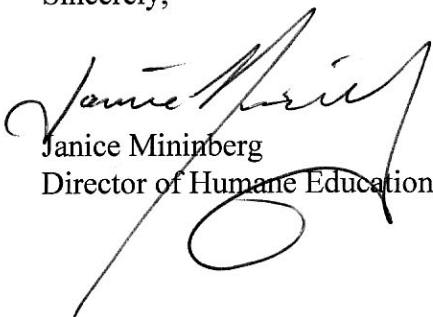

Having an understanding of dog and cat behavior, we were astounded by the tricks you taught your canines and felines. They preformed feats with eagerness and trust, which only comes about when they have faith in their Alpha leader - you.

The stunts your cats performed were incredible! Climbing, jumping, pushing a baby carriage and riding "piggy back" on a fox terrier are not actions a common household cat would do. I know ours would look at us and say "In you dreams!" and walk away.

The very fact you adopted shelter animals for your "Comedy and Pet Theater" lets people see and learn for themselves that there is nothing wrong with animals at a shelter. These animals make wonderful companions, are talented and smart. What may be classified as an "overly energetic pet" buy one person, may be seen as an animal with spirit and courage by another — when given time, training and love.

Congratulations on a wonderful show.

Sincerely,

Janice Mininberg
